Old and New Arthropod Associated Diseases in Massachusetts

with

Daniel P. McQuillen, MD, FIDSA, FACP

Senior Staff Physician and Infectious Diseases Specialist
Lahey Hospital and Medical Center, Burlington, MA
Assistant Professor of Medicine, Tufts University School of Medicine Boston, MA

Wednesday, September 27, 2017

Dr. Daniel McQuillen graduated from the Medical School of Wisconsin, completed Infectious Disease Fellowship training at The Maxwell Finland Laboratory for Infectious Diseases at Boston University School of Medicine and is Board Certified in Infectious Disease and Internal Medicine. He is immediate Past-President of the Massachusetts Infectious Disease Society and is a member of the Infectious Diseases Society of America's Board of Directors. Dr. McQuillen directs the Transplant Infectious Diseases service at LHMC and also cares for patients living with HIV, with interests in outpatient IV antimicrobial therapy, general infectious diseases, hospital acquired infectious and tick-associated infections.

Dr. McQuillen will speak about currently prevalent arthropod-borne diseases in Massachusetts, with a focus on Powassan virus and other tick-associated diseases, using illustrative cases to highlight clinical presentation, diagnosis and treatment.
